COMPANY A HOLDS SUPPER AT ARMORY

Monday night the local Company A. I. N. G., will give an oyster supper at the Armory hall. An interesting program has been arranged and a social session will be observed. MEN'S CLOTHES

Quality, Style, Pattern, Fit and Durability Combined with Economical Pricing, Has Made M. & K. the Best Store in the Tri-Cities.

For men and young men who want the right things in clothes we always provide the best and when such houses as Hart Schaffner & Marx, Society Brand, Garson, Meyer & Co., and Clothcraft put their seal of approval on every suit and overcoat we send out, it follows as a matter of course that we back up with our name every claim these houses make.

Our business was built and kept by only such methods and it's our catering to the best, with the best, that has given our clothes such an enviable name and reputation.

Then, too, it's the care we give to our customers in fit. If you are hard to fit in size, say, too stout, or too tall, or too short, or maybe too tall and stout, forget it and come here with the certainty of being correctly and accurately fitted in just what you want.

Serries, plain soft weaves. Hair lines and chalk stripes in suits of every stylish model and a generous showing of fancy English patterns in Norfolk.

Overcoats—Every good style and plenty of them. Chinchilla, of course, because they're very popular, and we've got them in blue and all shades of gray. Vicunas, twills, Montagnacs and homespun fabrics in light colors and many of them rainproofed. Some made with belts and shawl collars, some with high military convertible collars and some with notch self or velvet collars. And in every length.

Then we show a splendid line of rain-coats in light weight to wear in wet weather and over evening clothes.

The line is too big to talk about and try to tell all about and it has to be seen and gone over before you can get an idea.
